Call-ins are great - the ones I hear are not live, so I write to ask: isn't it ironic that even though the abortion issue is regarded as the most important domestic issue, the French abortion pill will reduce the issue to nothingness.

Is it not true that the French have produced this?

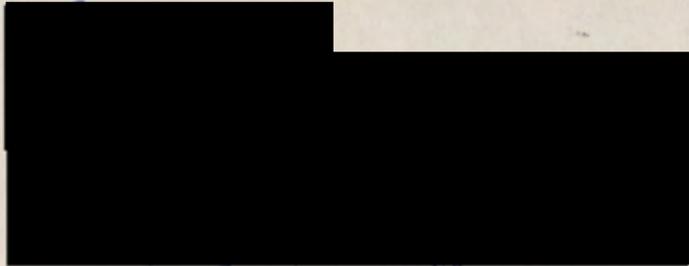

AND isn't it true, or wouldn't it be true, that if the U.S. prohibited importation, as it now prohibits importation of cocaine, that would-be users would have easy access, similar to the easy access people have for the prohibited drug?
