

Dear Brian

1. Congress and Cabinet on C-span
2. People call in - ask a question
3. Your guest from Fed. Gov talks - rarely gives a specific answer
4. Next caller speaks. First caller cannot follow-up.

In short - your government guests are never challenged - never cross examined for details.

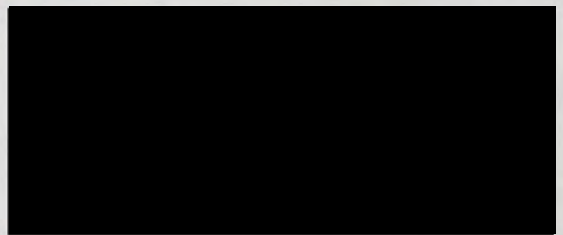

Example

Many have stated that the 500 billion dollar deficit reduction includes 200 spending cuts

They never tell us what they are and who (by name) is responsible to see that it gets done. Nobody has a chance to ask -

To some extent C-span has become a place where Federal people can promote themselves

Think about it!
