Dear Brian Lamb:

This morning I started watching C-Span at 7:00 am (8:00 am Eastern), as usual, but had to turn it off after 40 minutes.

I hope you will NEVER have these 2 guests again. The man was obviously not quite awake - yawning. The woman was obviously Clinton Basher, and both were very obviously real snobs.

In Hollywood there are good actors, and there are celebrities and stars. Well - in News Media there are news people and there are people like your 2 guests: pampered Washington news representatives.
Why don't you tell us sometimes about the perks the Washington news media is enjoying?

Your 2 guests were obviously old enough to have been around when GFK was running for President. Where were they at that time, not telling the truth about him?

What is wrong with the news media?

Are they such shallow crowd that a candidate's personal life has priority over issues? Or maybe the issues bore them?

Please treat the voters with respect and treat the candidates with respect, especially Bill Clinton.

I like to know more about Jennifer Rogers. Give equal time to all candidates, if the news people prefer to dwell on personal issues.

Very truly yours
