Dear C-Span,

Your programming is marvelous and extremely informative.

Recently I saw an interview with Iraq's Ambassador to the U.S. Amidst all the controversy ^{during} - both the Ambassador's and the call-in public - Brian Lamb remained the model of diplomacy. (He muscles in his face tightened, but he never changed his expression throughout.

By the time the program was over I was convulsed with laughter toward the Ambassador rather than a torrent of anger.

Perhaps you all feel as we do that one can reflect much better with laughter than anger.

Thank you again for your coverage of all the news while still allowing the public to think for themselves.

Sincerely,
