

"Through television we can show and tell our children that they really matter, even when they're very little...We have a chance to communicate the fact that childhood lies at the very basis of what people are and what they become."

MISTER ROGERS' NEIGHBORHOOD, seen in your neighborhood on PBS.

A middle-aged man with grey hair is sitting on a wooden bench, smiling at the camera. He is wearing a red zip-up cardigan over a light blue shirt and a dark tie with a small pattern. He is in the process of tying a dark blue sneaker with white laces and a white sole. His legs are crossed at the ankles. The background is a light blue wall with a colorful abstract painting hanging on it. A potted plant is visible on the right side of the frame. The overall mood is relaxed and comfortable.

You
make each day
a special day

your being
you.
