

March 20, 1995

North Tonawanda, NY 14120-4415

Weaver

I want to call your attention to an article written about what one Bishop of the Greater Christ Temple ^{church} accomplished by positive leadership.
It appears in the March 15, 1995 issue of Conservative Chronicles.
^{written by Paul Hargrey.} Bishop Luke Edwards set out to encourage the members of his church, 96% of whom were on welfare, to ^{be} productive & prosperous. The Bishop started by selling peanuts in the church, from that money the church opened a small store, bought produce and sold it for profit. This leadership turned the poor of the Bishop's parish into productive members with self-esteem & self-respect and working to make their enterprise grow. They now

March 20, 1995

C. Span

Weimer

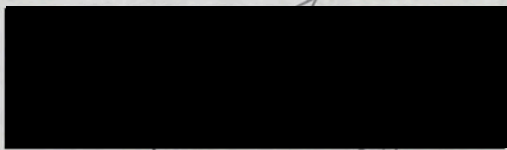

I want to call your attention
to an article written about what
one Bishop of the Greater Christ Temple ^{church} accomplished by positive leadership.
It appears in the March 15, 1995
issue of Conservative Chronicles.
^{written by Paul Harvey.} Bishop Luke Edwards set out to encourage the members of his church, 96% of whom were on welfare,
to ^{be} productive & prosperous. The Bishop started by selling peanuts
in the church, from that money
the church opened a small store,
bought produce and sold it for
profit. This leadership turned
the poor of the Bishop's parish into
productive members with self-esteem & self-respect and working to make their enterprise grow. They now

II

have a ranch, 1000 head of cattle, a hog operation with 300 brood sows, two motels, a gas station, 3 restaurants, 2 chicken farms and 4000 acres of land.

Our country is so diverse, and has so many individuals like Bishop Edwards that I believe communities will be key to solving the problems of the poor, crime and education. It was so uplifting to read Paul Harvey's story of a man who dared to do the impossible without money from foundations, or government, or corporate foundations,

Sincerely,

N. Tonawanda, N.Y.

14120