Greetings,

Hey, I'm not gonna lie, I watched about 30 seconds of your program this morning with Guterrez and ol' JD, please pardon any misspelling of the Hispanic reps' name, and please pardon the few people in the state of AZ who did vote for the bloated idiot that you saw fit to "span the waves" with him. I assure you I wasn't involved, but his appearance kinda reinforces, uh, I think I'll just keep that thought, for now.

I've been meaning to write you guys, since the "landslide", come to think of it, maybe I did, but I mentioned the hayworth, nawiht. Since then, I have had occasion to see His Fatness, at the lectern, ranting and raving, gesticulating, and regurgitating the "party line", along with his cohorts in covertness, the "new, young Republican's", that "resulted from the backlash of the disenfranchised, putupon, White guys", and blah, blah, blah....

But JD, hey now there's a wiener for ya. What I was going to write to you about, after witnessing his actions, was the fact that the American people should know that the guy is nothing more than a dumb-assed, ass wipe, ex-jock ass kissing, ex-sports announcer, from the Valley of the Stunned and if anything (people) should be "concerned like a muthafucker" someone of his, worst case scenario, (abilities?) attributes should be involved with the heady task of running this country, (or whats left of it) period.

"Perhaps", you say, "but people voted for him", yea sure, the same folks who re-elected a blood sucking (former ex-failed real estate developer and bank swindler, butt-buddy of Charlie Keating) half-albino, Governor, the Rifester (who, by the way, doesn't know the local Indian joke on him, that when they gave him his "Indian" name, the media reported that it translated to "three sticks", a reference to the "third", after his proper name, it really translates to "three tongues", just one more than a snake).

As I, hopefully, remembered correctly I have written you since the format change at C-SPAN, (at least) and relative to your new question of the morning, "whats, on your local headline", that the smart ass in me always answers, "hey, you want to know whats in my paper, get a fuckin subscription", an article in the Repukelic (Republic) recently detailed how easy it is/would be for illegal aliens to vote in local State and National Elections, coupled with the complete lack of any "control" (proof of somekind) or, investigative follow-up to the process of registering to vote, by simply, signing the voter registration document, that carries with it a "penalty" for not being a citizen, which wouldn't deter anyone from Mexico (or anywhere else) who knows that they will just be deported, voter fraud not something Federal judges, faced with over burgeoned facilities, filled with potheads, are likely to sentence them for otherwise. Combined with the bilingual ballot, (that single handedly caused my 75 year old Mother to quit a lifelong process of voting and who knows how many others) it would be extremely possible if not probable many local voters could be voting illegally, then factor in voter turnouts of 9,000 (in the last Mesa, City Election) and, well, you can figure it out, I'm sure.

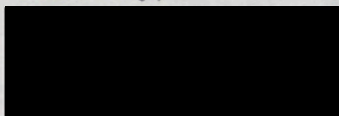

The true Gem of the article came from the statement from the local Voter Registration "Official", quoted in the article saying, "there's no proof of voter fraud, so its not happening",...(I'll give you a moment to stop the convulsive laughter and get up off the floor). Really, thats what the complete asshole said, the article describes a system, set-up, to not identify anyone in the voting process, and then the H.M.F.I.C. has the criminal rectitude to make such a remark! (uh dig, like I'm hip to the context thing, an' the dude didn't see the article before making the statement, still don't take away from the message I'm gettin, dig).

I wanna close, mainly cuz' I stopped writing letters to the Editor, and such, don't do no fuckin' good, and it costs postage too. But you guys really aughta come clean on el Gordo, let folks "in the heartland" know, the guys a shill, fakester, makes his way pukin' out his face, and convincing dumbasses it was somebody else.

Then again, him and that good-time, cokehead jokester Sonny Bono might make a good team, "fatass and fathead", or maybe, "mutt and littler mutt".

Sincerely,
