Dear Brian

Since I retired, I spend most of my TV time listening to CSPAN. Today, I watched Marty Russo, a Nine Termer from Illinois. It occurred to me while listening, that it would be helpful, for the uninformed, if the "he" was wired to a LIE Detector and the resultant plot was shown in the lower right corner of the screen.

I admire you, because you have, when an outlandish bull is promulgated, you very deftly request further explanation, resulting in quite healthy revisions

*define "HE" as the Interviewee -
