To: C. Span

I have just recently become an avid listener of C. Span. I find ^{your} broadcasts, particularly the call-in programs, very informative and intellectually stimulating. However, frequently I am frustrated by the inarticulate expressions of the participants. The stature of the participants indicates that they possess the knowledge and understanding of current affairs worthy of dissemination to the public. The panel and the Moderator need to be alerted to articulate their ideas audibly discernable as well as intellectually meaningful.

Sincerely,
