Dear Mr. Lamb,

Relying upon the wisdom
of a trusted friend, I purchased Cable Services
two years ago. She said that C-Spon would make life worth living.

I must say that I have enjoyed several programs, particularly the speeches and conferences. I can't say that I've enjoyed
many of the Call-in shows.
Most of the callers are discontents and bashers. I've

Observed that The level of discontent and bashing is related to the guests and yourself. You tend to Accommodate the opinions of the guests. (all things to all people) For example: It was very refreshing to watch Sally Quinn and Ben Bradlee on Monday Morning. Their delightful personalities, and Condid, but thoughtful statements, set the tone. The mean discontents were apparently intimidated.

I'm not going to speculate about your party affiliation. But I have observed that you appear to be more comfortable with Republican and Conservative opinions. It appears to several of us that you enjoy the callers who bash President Clinton. One of your counterparts on C-Span is ingeniously adept at curtailing vicious, mean statements from callers. This is, in my opinion, the way it should be. C-Span is viewed as a different category, not in a class with Rush Limbaugh.

Notwithstanding poll numbers, many of you in the Media and the Press would be very surprised at the support that President Clinton has. I have great admiration and respect for him. I also belong to two large professional organizations whose members strongly support him. Barriing of course, a few. I'm also a practicing Roman Catholic. Many of my Catholic friends strongly support The President.

I felt compelled to write this note, since the media

is apparently trying to define what the Public thinks.

Many of us know what happened during the last twelve years of Republican Administrations, and are capable of making sensible assessments.

Thank you for listening to my areas of discontent.

We can take much more programming like the Quinn-Brodlee.
