

Dear Mr. Lomb,

You are, in my opinion, an example of the best of what an American can be & do. I just want to let you know that I spend an hour every Sunday in a delightful way, I think you!, and there is no way to repay you for that.

Teaching Learning Disabled students at a 6th 7th grade Middle School is what I do for a living, because I was that type of student. Also, I'm Branch Pres. of AAW & Public Policy Coordinator for " " at State level. (So, I have a life!) Also, I'm not a constant prever - But always watch or tape & watch "Booknote"

You did a great job on Japan & I was sure I'd have seconds on patching that & haven't caught it - so when I saw you in Oxford I stopped & drank it all in. What can I say? Like a never ending Luvava Split! Thank You Ever so much for being you & doing what you do!!!

This brilliant embroidery was created by a woman in eastern Guatemala. Its varied figures depict corn growing in the field and being ground for preparation of tortillas, as well as other important aspects of daily life in a Guatemalan village. Through the sale of embroideries, the artisan can supplement her income without leaving home or the activities shown in her work.

Pueblo to People contributes to the preservation of the Guatemalan "Pueblo" by marketing their work and providing information to the "People" of North America.
