To Brian Lamb,

I watched the program about the Press and the President, and I hope you can pass this along to the smart alecks, self-important, self-annointed prima donnas of the Washington press corps: Just who these arrogant, pessimistic, cynical types think they are??

Our country's future is at stake, and these egoists talk and act as if it's just a game, like a fun thing tennis match, to score mean spirited points!

President Clinton has worked very hard to get where he's and I think he really CARES about the people and the country, with no help from these petty minded scandal mongers who set their own agenda and think they own the airwaves, with no concern for us! That's the point - they don't care, except to protect their overpaid fiefdoms!

Much of the time their 'information' is as skewed and misinformed, as if they know what they're talking about and how to run the country.

President Clinton is brave and smart; a lot smarter, I think, than they are, and I wish him well; I'll root for him!

Very Truly Yours,
