Dear C-Spn:

First let me say that I like & admire Brian Lamb and think C-Spn is the best thing that has happened to TV in many a moon - Most of the programs are balanced & without bias - However, upon occasion you air a program that is distinctly biased which makes me wonder who selects these programs and does anyone monitor them?

I turned on C-Spn awhile ago to watch while eating lunch - I just turned it off in anger -

A youngish man named Rick Littlefield had a captive audience of Hi. School students and was feeding them the straight Liberal-Left line in answer to their questions - i.e. Q: Why can't we tax the rich more than the poor? " Well, we used to until Reagan changed the tax laws

Blah, Blah, Now The "poor" pay $3500 and so as those earning $500,000 —

(under $50,000)

He mentioned the Soc. Sec.

tax earlier but did not clarify this very slanted comment - nor did he point out that some believe it is wrong to penalize those who work hard to earn a lot of money - take away incentives - and they do pay, proportionately, a great deal more in income taxes, never mind the Soc. Sec. tax - etc. Now, you & I know this & I'll bet Rick Littlefield knows it, but he is leaving those naive students with a typical liberal class hatred or "Ridiculous or all the wrong attitude -

I am anything but rich, but I am sick of hearing this kind of rubbish fed to impressionable young -
