On Dec. 3, 1993, you had a program which included several members of the news media. Most of the callers commented and had questions relating to the fact that the communications media in this country is overwhelmingly liberal.

My comments on this particular program concern the denial and defensive attitude they had when faced with this. Why are they ashamed? I have never seen a conservative who is not proud to be conservative and readily admits it anytime.

Keep up the good work!
