

Today is Tues. May 15th 1990. MAY 21 REC'D
This week is National Police Week. 1862-90

I have found it very interesting this past week while watching television especially CNN and C-Span that many hours were devoted to the speakers standing on the steps of the Capitol telling us of how they would go about desecrating our American flag. They spoke of their "Constitutional Rights."

Today Tues. May 15th, 1990 at 12 noon just a short way down the street from the Capitol there was a memorial service held for all the police officers who gave their ~~lives~~ this past year serving their country. I believe the total of fallen officers was 161 this year.

There was very little mention of this let alone television coverage. I guess that their rights expired when they did.

Let's wake up.

CC: t. murphy

Burlington, N.J.
08016