

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
Bethel, Maine 04217

10 January 1994

Mr. Brian Lamb, President
C-SPAN
400 North Capitol Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20001

Dear Mr. Lamb:

Before the event recedes too far into the past, now that I have at last caught the C-SPAN address on the screen, I want to express my dismay that you folks would lend your facilities to the character assassin David Brock and his supposed revelations regarding President Clinton in Arkansas. Good heavens, if we cannot expect C-SPAN to avoid tabloid journalism, what hope do we have for the rest of the "media"? Since you yourself interviewed him on Booknotes at the time of the publication of his hatchet job on Anita Hill, you certainly know what Brock is like. "Garbage," or the good old fashioned term we used in my childhood years, "swill," are much too kind descriptions of what that leering young man devotes his life to gathering.

Having mentioned Booknotes, allow me to congratulate you on the splendid job you do in interviewing the authors. I was chatting with a fellow historian the other day, and, unsolicited, he told me of his profound admiration for your thoughtful approach in discussing the contents of the books and the backgrounds of the authors.

Best wishes.

Yours sincerely,
[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]
Bethel, Maine 04217

PLEASE MAIL ^{USA 29}
EARLY FOR CHRISTMAS

Mr. Brian Lamb, President
C-SPAN
400 North Capitol Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20001

20001-1511 12

