C-SPAN COVERS SELECTION OF NEW CANADIAN PRIME MINISTER LIVE

Washington, D.C., June 11, 1993--On Sunday, June 13, as the Canadian Progressive Conservative Party convenes to select a new party leader, C-SPAN will give its national audience a look at Canadian politics in action. The new party leader will succeed Brian Mulroney as prime minister of Canada. On-air schedule is as follows:

- * 1:30-3:00 PM (ET)--Nominating Speeches, Canadian Progressive Conservative Party leadership candidates.
- * 3:00-4:00 PM (ET)--LIVE Viewer Call-in with Hillary MacKenzie, Washington bureau chief of McLean's magazine.
- * 4:00-7:00 PM (ET)--LIVE Canadian Progressive Conservative Convention.

C-SPAN will simulcast the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's coverage of the balloting for a new party leader.

C-SPAN is available in 59.2 million households and around the world via satellite.

C-SPAN is entirely funded by America's cable television industry as a public service.
