Dear Editor,

Several weeks ago I was pleasantly surprised to see your program on Northern Ireland. This was the most unbiased program that I have seen on the subject in this country.

Unfortunately most news stories on the subject are highly censored - presenting a pro-British view. I believe the American public have the right to know both sides of the question in this continuing conflict.

The American public have a right to an unbiased view of the conflict in Northern Ireland and the opportunity to form their own view on the subject not the problem being foisted on them by the American news service which are only giving the British view point on this conflict.

Sincerely yours
