

March 10, 1994

C-SPAN
400 N. Capitol St. N.W., Suite #150
Washington, D.C. 20001
Attn: Brian Lamb

Dear Brian,

I'm writing you today instead of using FAX or Tele due to the "downsizing" of my communications budget. Sound familiar?

C-SPAN is a remarkable concept both for entertainment and learning in general. I wonder just how much of the various segments Floridians understand or even watch. This state by its own figures has 51% of those persons who begin public school... failing to graduate!

Without question the mass of information you provide all of us who will watch and listen ought to assist in the change for more responsive/responsible government at all levels. However, since I cast my first vote, in 1951, that has not been the case.

Would you agree that until the voting public has the option of "referendum" we can never directly effect our own lives?

Brian, I am a graduate of four universities, a retired, world traveled, naval officer. Where did you do your academic matriculation? I envy you getting to read all those new (free?) books each week.

Well done.

[REDACTED]
LCDR, USN (Ret.)

Cantonment, FL 32533

Tele: [REDACTED]