Gentlemen:

I watch "C Span" because I can't seem to stay away from it. To me, there's no greater show on earth than politics. I guess if the real circus comes in it will vie for attention but the real thrill is gone since you can't watch the train roll in at 2 AM and hear the circus sounds. Auditoriums don't have charm.

Captured headlines and the people making them big and bold is exciting. Even more is the thrill of participating. I have in-put. I don't have to fume in silence. Fantastic!

C Span is orchestrated like a hot rock group on stage. Sometimes everyone is excited enough to be talking all at once. As some interviews become heated the facts tumble out ;... and often don't hold the line on printed news. In essence, printed news is often slanted to a personal view a specific newspaper has, or a reporter. Headlines are compared from around the country. Being sleazy isn't easy when you're being watched.

I'm finding myself better informed so that I'm easily being able to absorb issues from printed matter. Garbage in is sorted and I'm now an informed opinionated bigot with gusto if I want.

For awhile I felt our TV newscasters were acting like stars and I noted a wee slant to the right or left. But, seeing our paid Congress working puts a new onus on reality.

Before TV, and almost radio... on Friday nites the family went to the movies. We brought our own goodies or treats. There were 2 full feature films, a cartoon and a serial and we got a set of dishes for my family of 15. But --- Most important of all was the round of news from around the country and the world.

You sometimes saw Washington and issues and the president was filmed too. I loved it and the family would talk about it as we walked home.

Now I love C Span and talk about you and I really want to see you. I don't expect dishes ---
but I want to win.

Most Sincerely,

[REDACTED]

P.S. My city is 150 years old and it would be a wonderful thing to celebrate a bit of it on C Span.
We need the publicity and business.
Kodak, Xerox, 2 GM plants and Bausch & Lomb and all our colleges etc.
can use the publicity in the home town of Barnett News. Hmmm.
