I used to listen intently to WENR Chicago Town Meeting of the air in the early 30's. I was taken by the information that I received and the questions answered that triggered my inquiry and imagination when I ran for the Wisconsin State Assembly in 1934, which I lost. But I won the primary in 1936 defeating the incumbent and two others. We didn't have money because there was no money to get, so we had to find a different and less costly way of getting to the voters. I came up with the idea of having town meetings all over Bayfield County. I started early after the primary to get energetic people to set up meetings in 18 different areas of the county. When I didn't get anyone, I did it myself. I got the so called spark plug who gave me the names and addresses of people who he thought were doers in the community. We sent releases to the daily and weekly newspapers a week in advance on where and what the meeting would begin. We would get our candidates for all county and legislative offices to attend plus occasional attending by the congressional and state senate offices. We gave the county candidate each 2 minutes to talk and the legislative candidates each 5 minutes or more. We gave the congressional candidate much more as he and the legislative candidates would have more of the meat of what our party was all about and would get them interested in our parties agenda.

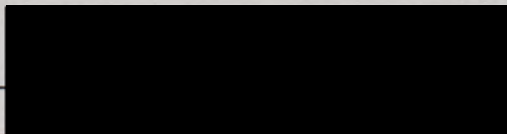

We had from 25 to 100 at each meeting. You must remember that there were hard times and that many independents there were never before involved in politics to take part in our plan. They could ask questions, give advice and felt that they were part of the action.

I had a travelling Progressive Headquarters with the name in big letters on both sides of the trailer. We had signs and banners of all of the candidates, so we were a travelling billboard. We carried material of all of the candidates in the trailer and would distribute them during the day. In fact, I slept in the trailer because we were the 2nd largest county in the state and you save on gas and lodging as the county was 90 miles long and 30 miles wide<sup>D</sup>. We used this extensively when I ran against my GOP opponent for [REDACTED] in 1968, whom I defeated.

I was in there for 8 years. For my efforts the big wigs of the Progressive Party recognized my success and were very positive in their idea of more person to person contact.

Can this idea be a success some 50 years afterward? I say yes it can. Radio and TV are expensive and you don't always get to your people. Sound bites are fine, but they don't convince anyone unless you are carrying on a negative campaign. The size of every legislature district is much bigger today than it was then. So instead of having towns and cities you would have districts made up of several towns or cities. What about you legislative and state candidates? You can't be at all meetings. So you now have videos, so it is the next best thing to being there. This would not be costly and you could run your campaign for a fraction of what it would cost if you used TV, radio and direct mail.

Our Democratic Party needs to get to the people and this is the best way to get there at a minimum cost. This will be very effective in the rural and small towns. Areas which today are more GOP. We organized young progressives throughout the county and they were the leg men who were always interested in getting into the act. The final part of this program is to have a four part newspaper that would be mailed to every box in the county. We were the only county that held it's own from the LaFollette landslide in 1936. We used the governors vote as this was the strength of the party.

Julian and Gregorian Calendars

Calendars based on the movements of sun and moon have been used since ancient times, but none has been perfect. The Julian calendar, under which western nations measured time until 1582 A.D., was authorized by Julius Caesar in 46 B.C., the year 709 of Rome. His expert was a Greek, Sosigenes. The Julian calendar, on the assumption that the true year was 365 1/4 days long, gave every fourth year 366 days. The Venerable Bede, an Anglo-Saxon monk, announced in 730 A.D. that the 365 1/4-day Julian year was 11 min. 14 sec. too long, making a cumulative error of about a day every 128 years, but nothing was done about it for over 800 years.

By 1582 the accumulated error was estimated to have amounted to 10 days. In that year Pope Gregory XIII decreed that the day following Oct. 4, 1582, should be called Oct. 15, thus dropping 10 days.

However, with common years 365 days and a 366-day leap year every fourth year, the error in the length of the year would have recurred at the rate of a little more than 3 days every 400 years. So 3 of every 4 centesimal years (ending in 00) were made common years, not leap years. Thus 1600 was a leap year, 1700 was not. Leap years are those divisible by 4 except centesimal years, which are common unless divisible by 400.

The Gregorian calendar now in use in the United States was imposed by the government of Great Britain on all its possessions, including the American colonies, in 1752. The British decreed that the day following Sept. 2, 1752 should be called Sept. 14, a loss of 11 days. All dates preceding were marked O.S., for old style. George Washington was born Feb. 11, 1732, O.S., and after 1752 his birthday fell on Feb. 22.

While the Catholic parts of Germany, Switzerland and the Netherlands adopted the calendar at once, the Protestant regions waited until 1700-1701. France accepted it at once; Poland in 1586; Hungary in 1587. Great Britain adopted it in 1752; Sweden in 1753; Japan in 1873; the Chinese Republic in 1912; the Turkish Parliament in 1917; the Soviet Government of Russia in 1918; Rumania in 1919. Finally, in May, 1923, the Gregorian Calendar was adopted by Greece and Greek Orthodox communities.

In 1793 the French Revolutionary Government adopted a calendar of 12 months of 30 days each, with 5 extra days in September of each common year and a 6th extra day every 4th year. Napoleon reinstated the Gregorian calendar in 1806.

To change from the Julian calendar to the Gregorian calendar, add 10 days for the years 1582 to 1700; 11 days from 1700 to 1800; 12 days from 1800 to 1900; 13 days since 1900.
