Your programs are deeply appreciated. I live with C-Span, CNN and PBS, but I have a concern. I heard your broadcast of the Iowa caucus, when several individuals declared themselves candidates for the Presidency. It was excellent, however, in later news broadcasts, your announcer did not include the name of the mayor from California, who not only declared himself a candidate, but also advanced a significant program for reducing the military budget.

(Saying I do not have his name).
He was the only candidate who presented a possible program for the rehabilitation of our country.

I would like to suggest you present him on your program, Road To the White House.
It seems to me his name should be included with declared candidates.

Appreciatively and sincerely,
