Dear Mr. Lamb:

Thank you for such a Refreshing experience with Mr. Reed Irvine.-

I would be more than willing to pay double my monthly cable bill if you had MR. Irvine for at least a half hour weekly to highlight any media error of omission or commission.

You don't even need to practice "affirmative action" or "equal time" with MR. Irvine.

I am sure the media does not lack the resources to rebut any statement of fact revealed by MR. Irvine.- The best defense the media has is simple: Accuracy!

Again, Mr Lamb, thank you very, very much.- Hope Mr. Irvine would accept your invitation.- This will make you the most influential man in America.

(over, please)

P.S. The media pretends that they make politicians accountable, yet nobody makes them accountable. Mr. Clinton utters the word "fair" and "fair share" in every other sentence. - Wouldn't it be "fair" for the media to accept their "fair share" of accountability.
