Dear Brian:

I am writing due to my inability to get thru by phone.

Monday morning (9-11-95) you had two on the panel (male and female) from "Roll Call". During the discussion of the Packwood event, a caller asked why there was not a similar hysteria about the Kennedy tragedy. They responded that an extensive and thorough investigation was conducted at that time. Thereafter, an elderly gentleman called and referred to the panelists as kids. Unfortunately, you, the panel, and others by subsequent comments, missed his point completely. I'm sure he was referring to the fact that the panelists were under the age of 30 and were mere babies ^{at that time} who could not have inside knowledge of the incident or subsequent events.

I enjoy C. Spane but do get frustrated when panelists evade answering, i.e. respond only to parts of an inquiry which suit their political beliefs.

Very truly yours.

P.S. I'm 72 years old, and I, for one, am tired of the Democrats using fear tactics with the elderly.
