Gentlemen:

I am thrilled by the prospect of your series on American Presidents which will include site visits. Monday morning I saw the Adams program. I missed Washington, however, and wonder when and if that will be repeated.

Now I notice that Adams will be repeated on Fri evenings. Will that be true for each of the series?

My husband & I are fans of your programs but it is very upsetting that a schedule for C-Span does not seem to be published in the Washington Post - so we never know what is on when. And we miss so much. What is your suggestion to solve our problem?

I also enjoy book notes - and really basically wonder what else is on on a regular basis. I realize that much time is devoted to public affairs, but perhaps you have some sort of schedule to send us. We'd be grateful.

But most critical today is if The Washington program series be repeated this week or sometime soon.

Sincerely yours,
