Brien,

I love your show and I try to watch it as often as I can (4, 5 nights a week). I've gotten very frustrated in the past, but tonight's show, "took the cake"! There you were; you had three guests on, a woman reporter from C.B.S. whose name I can't remember, Jacob Weissburg, and I think the other fellow was Blumberg or something like that. Well, anyway what "blew my mind", was, somehow the subject of Haiti came up. I think Brien that you may have asked your panel a question about how they felt about "President Aristide". Well I remember who spoke up first; it was Jacob Weissburg. He referred to Aristide as "Father Aristide". My first thought immediately was, "How can he call him 'Father', He was 'Defrocked', and I then saw Blumberg begin with his response to your question and I thought to myself, "well, he will probably point out the fact that Aristide is not 'Father Aristide' because he was defrocked". So what does he say? He says, "Father Aristide". I couldn't believe it! Now I was ready and waiting for the woman reporter from C.B.S. to reply, and I was really hoping that she would set the record straight. She begins to talk on the subject and guess how she referred to Aristide? You guessed it, "Father Aristide"! By then I feel the frustration. But, wait a minute, I have one last hope --- you Brien! Well you did make some final comments on the subject. I'll give you this much, you didn't refer to Aristide as "Father Aristide" but Brien you also didn't bring out the fact that he was "Defrocked" either. Why not? It bothers me because so many people watch C-Span and if three people on your panel come right out and say something stupid, one right after the other, and nobody points out the correct fact, I feel that some people will loose respect for C-Span and not watch it anymore. I'm considering right now if I should just stop watching it myself. There has to be a place where the American people can go for the truth. Is that why Rush Limbaugh is so popular? Please reply.

Yours truly,
