Dear Brian Lamb —
your C-Span is so good!
I cannot express my thanks to all of you for the information I get only from C-Span. I can tell you I certainly understand 100% more about Congress. And like most of your callers on the "elusive" Call-in show state I am definitely a "C-Span junkie".

By "elusive" I mean I have unsuccessfully been trying to get through since the budget debate.
I'm sure I had no great important statement to make except to vent my anger, disgust & disappointment with George T. Bush.

I know — I hope I am wrong I have to be — But I feel that he single mindedly began this war for his own political position in the world. His administration is like a dictatorship. They twist arms, bribe, lie - dupe the United Nations pay tax payers money to many countries & after all the budget posturing - now the deficit is not even considered in Bush's flag waverer spending spree in the desert. I am heart sick because as the war goes on I see that I am nearer to right than wrong about this administration.

Because of the war & our troops I can say nothing for Saddam is a worthy opponent for Bush & for once I want Bush to win - but naturally by it doesn't condone his actions.

I'll never live to see how history meets him but despite the hype now he'll be viewed as a traitor to the American people. "Under a gentler" he doesn't know those words. I don't think he ever refused a dare to his "macho" masculinity.

Have you read his biography in Gail Shucky's "Character: America's Search for Leadership". It does give an insight to the "Bush" character.

One of my purposes in writing to you Brian is to say that here in New Hampshire I cannot get into C-Span on your call-ins.

Sure you're saying "glad you can't. you'll destroy the Arab Coalition". But really if & when I ever get through unless the war is over I won't mention Bush's name.

I was happy the other day at a C-span broadcast of a National Press ^{meeting} for a questioner asking the same query I wanted to ask you —

"Is Iraq launching his scud missiles from Jordan?"
So I got my answer from you in a round about way.

I really enjoy listening to others asking better questions than I have so I'm really not upset.

Before I end let me tell you Washington Times editor in chief Arnaud de Borchgrave is really a knowledgeable man (speaks better than I) & I am very impressed with ^{him}. Please get him again.

Thanks Brian. You guys are so good. Sincerely
