If I were a journalist my morals would require me to name and list all known about the five of the last ten presidents who have had sexual liaisons. (Anyone remember the Hugh Downs President Bush interview of 1992, Time mag.?)
And I mean every time you do it to President Clinton.

And if I were going to preach a sermon, my morals would require that I use King David as a reference.
If I wanted to present the topic to my children, this would have been the place I'd already have started.

I was asked two years ago if I wasn't afraid to say something good about P. Clinton so I'll sign as a Real Person

O-called
