Dear Bravo,

Viewer

You have an excellent TV station & I thank you for your very fine programming, especially classical music, ballet, opera & foreign films -

But, there is a complaint. Please DON'T show movies if you warn that they are being edited & not the original version.

Do what PBS does. Show the complete film with the warning VIEWER DISCRETION ADVISED.

What bugs you? The female breast, or even part of it exposed, seems to offend you. Yet with true hypocrisy you show gratuitous violence, which is truly offensive, & your titles on foreign films are vulgar beyond belief. I understand 7 languages & your titles on French & Italian films are far more scatological & vulgar than the words spoken on the screen.

How about it? Stop your Puritan hypocrisy & let it all hang out. This is 1995.
Sincerely, [redacted] (P.T.O.)

For example, La Femme Nikita
& Personal Best where because of female nudity you "EDITED" the film. Grow up!
