Dear Brian:

As a C-SPAN junkie, I can not express in words how much I relish your "Washington Journal" and

"Book Notes" programs. You are an extended member of our family!

Keep up the good work in '99! I love your new "Book TV" too!

Why don't you invite Eric Foner of Columbia University to appear on a segment of "Book Notes"? He has recently published The Story of American Freedom (New York: W.W. Norton, 1998). Foner is one of America's most distinguished scholars and a former president of the Organization of American Historians (OAH). You are no doubt familiar with his brilliant work on the Reconstruction era.

If interested, Professor Foner can be reached at [redacted] or [redacted]

Take care and best wishes for the winter season.

Best wishes for a bright and prosperous New Year!

Penguins are highly specialized marine birds and are adapted to living at sea. Some species spend as much as 75% of their lives at sea. They are normally found near nutrient-rich, cold-water currents that provide an abundant supply of food.
