Dear Mr. Lamb:

Watched your Booknotes with Jack Nelson and his book "Terror In The Night", and you didn't ask no penetrating questions.

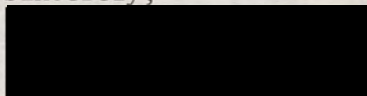

Nelson was telling the sins of the Southern people and you didn't have any penetrating questions of Nelson.

Why didn't you ask Nelson how much money the LA TIMES took in for advertising the virtues of cigarettes? Why didn't you ask how much money the TIMES takes in for advertising beer and other liquor?

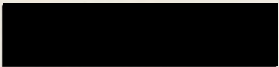

You work for the media and it shows.

Taking money for advertising cigarettes is a past sin, and you didn't ask any questions. Damn!

Sincerely,
