

August 7, 1993

MEMO: Moscow News

Although the Russian morning news is one of my favorite programs, I may have to give it up. On Tuesday (8/3) the Russian was so loud that one could hardly hear the interpreter and in addition he had such a heavy accent that I turned it off. The next day the Russian was muted but the accent was still too difficult to follow

Today both problems re-emerged - the Russian too loud and a heavy accent - so I've turned it off all week.

This is a reoccurring problem and I find it difficult to understand why C-Span can not solve it.

002594 AUG1293

[REDACTED]
Greensboro, NC 27410-3258

C-Span

400 North Capitol St. Suite 50

Washington, DC 20001

12

