Dear Program Director,

As recent cable subscribers, my husband and I quickly became interested in your channel because of the broad and unique range of topics you cover.

We are wondering if you are aware of the upcoming American Atheists convention to be held in St. Petersburg Fla. on April 13, 14 & 15.

American Atheists is an educational organization supremely concerned and dedicated to the separation of church and state. Each year the convention hosts speakers from all over the world who report on the status-quo of church and state relations.

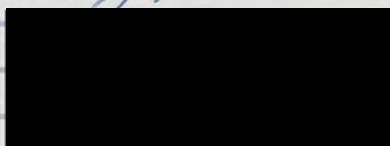

As a university student, I have witnessed a growing interest among many students for non-religious alternatives to government and in their everyday lives.

I think coverage of the American Atheist convention would be extremely enlightening for a broad audience and would present non-religious alternatives in an intellectual and dignified manner.
