"ELECTION '88" AT A GLANCE

*316 total hours of presidential campaign programming since January 1987.
Two hundred and sixteen hours of election coverage to date in 1988.*

"ROAD TO THE WHITE HOUSE" -- 100 hours

Premiered January 1987. C-SPAN's weekly campaign series aired 100 hours of campaign programming from the early primary and caucus states. (series concludes November '88)

CANDIDATE DEBATES -- 31 forums

Televised the first debate of the '88 race in May 1987. Since then, C-SPAN has aired 31 candidate forums in their entirety.

CANDIDATE CALL-INS AND INTERVIEWS

Eight of the major-party presidential hopefuls appeared on C-SPAN call-ins. In addition, C-SPAN invited the more than 200 FEC registered candidates to be interviewed about their campaigns. Seven of the lesser-known candidates responded to C-SPAN's invitation to appear on "Road to the White House."*

IOWA CAUCUSES -- 4 unedited caucuses

46 hours of Iowa programming included unprecedented telecasts of four unedited precinct caucuses. An entrance poll conducted February 8 found that 36 percent of Iowa caucus goers with cable TV said that C-SPAN "had an impact" on their choice of candidate support.*

NEW HAMPSHIRE PRIMARY -- 30 hours

30 hours of New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation primary included coverage of candidate stump speeches and state party sponsored events.

"SUPER TUESDAY" -- 24 cities

40 hours of Super Tuesday telecasts from 24 locations in the South. Exclusive live coverage of the Democratic Leadership Council's Democratic Candidates Debate.*

POST-SUPER TUESDAY -- Illinois, Colorado, Wisconsin, New York

55 hours of coverage of the primary and caucus contests that trimmed the field of presidential hopefuls.

C-SPAN AUDIENCE

C-SPAN is currently available in 37 million households (42% of all U.S. television households), via 2,850 cable system affiliates nationwide.

C-SPAN NAMES NEW PRESS MANAGER

Gene Grabowski To Head Network Press Information Office

Washington, D.C.-- Gene Grabowski, a veteran Associated Press reporter and former White House correspondent for The Washington Times, has been named Manager of Press Information for C-SPAN, the Cable-Satellite Public Affairs Network.

Grabowski, who has also worked as a senior account executive in the public relations field, will plan communication strategy and serve as chief spokesman for the 10-year-old network.

"Gene's extensive background in the news business, combined with his public relations experience, will strengthen our relationship with journalists and help provide direction as we grow into our second decade of service," said C-SPAN Chairman and Chief Executive Officer Brian Lamb.

A native of Pittsburgh, Pa., Grabowski most recently worked as White House and political correspondent for The Washington Times. Prior to his tenure at the newspaper, he was a senior account executive for The Earle Palmer Brown Companies of Bethesda, Md., the largest advertising and public relations firm based in the Washington area.

Grabowski, 34, worked for six years as an editor and reporter in AP's Washington Bureau. Before coming to Washington, he worked as an AP reporter in Pittsburgh and Harrisburg, Pa. He is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh.

Grabowski now resides in Rockville, Md., with his wife, Katherine Shirilla, and daughter, Amy.

C-SPAN is now available in 41.5 million households through 3,000 cable system affiliates nationwide. Contact your local cable operator for the C-SPAN channel number in your area.

C-SPAN is a public service of the cable television industry.

C-SPAN AIRS "EUROPEAN PROFILE" INTERVIEWS

On Thursday, November 23, Thanksgiving Day, as part of its "American Profile" series, C-SPAN will air special "European Profile" interviews with two members of the British House of Commons.

These interviews are part of C-SPAN's look at the British legislature and the network's coverage of the first ever televised proceedings of the House of Commons on Tuesday, November 21.

Roy Hattersley, deputy leader of the Labour Party in the House of Commons, and Michael Heseltine, a Conservative member of Parliament and a former defense minister in the Thatcher government, will discuss their private lives, their careers, and their perceptions of public service. The two men will speak in separate, 45-minute interviews.

On national holidays, C-SPAN's "American Profile" series offers viewers in-depth, personal portraits of prominent Americans. These "European Profile" interviews are the first featuring foreign public figures.

Thursday, November 23 (Thanksgiving Day)

C-SPAN AIRS "EUROPEAN PROFILE" INTERVIEWS

On Thursday, November 23, Thanksgiving Day, as part of its "American Profile" series, C-SPAN will air special "European Profile" interviews with two members of the British House of Commons.

These interviews are part of C-SPAN's look at the British legislature and the network's coverage of the first ever televised proceedings of the House of Commons on Tuesday, November 21.

Roy Hattersley, deputy leader of the Labour Party in the House of Commons, and Michael Heseltine, a Conservative member of Parliament and a former defense minister in the Thatcher government, will discuss their private lives, their careers, and their perceptions of public service. The two men will speak in separate, 45-minute interviews.

On national holidays, C-SPAN's "American Profile" series offers viewers in-depth, personal portraits of prominent Americans. These "European Profile" interviews are the first featuring foreign public figures.

This month on "Supreme Court Review," C-SPAN will look at the three cases being heard by the high court in December. Hodgson v. Minnesota and Ohio v. Reproductive Health Services, which involve parental consent requirements for abortion, will be the subject of the "Supreme Court Review" on December 2. On December 9, the program will look at a case involving the right to die, Cruzon v. Illinois.

Each Saturday at 7:00pm ET, C-SPAN airs "America and the Courts," which focuses on the federal judiciary. In weeks that the Supreme Court hears oral arguments, "America and the Courts" offers a retrospective on key cases called "Supreme Court Review."
