

Democrates now say communism is dead, but still all you constantly show on C-Span seems to promote it. Democrates have created a moral ozone during the past decades. They need to get back to more moral ideals instead of the dominant democratic and communist evil ideals and tactics, they've been involved in the last decades.

The American public is smarter than democrates think they are (although democrates are allways boasting that they are allways more right than Republicans.) The American public realizes that if we had a democrat president in the White House with a majority democratic House and Senate, we would have the same civil unrest in America as the freedom loving people experienced the past 40 years in East Europe Germany, Central America and Russia.

If you want to promote America on C-Span = let's use it to promote

The Republican-Democrate party as our forefathers instituted our constitution, instead of calling it the Democratic process and leaving out the Republican process.
