I Watch C-Span Because--

--it is simply done, easy to understand in layman's language

--it does not use flamboyant electronic gimmicks that commercial TV thinks it needs to get the viewing public's attention.

--it is completely non-partisan. Your hosts and interviewers bend over backwards to be fair and sure that both sides of an issue are shown.

--it presents in living color the charade that goes on in the halls of Congress. I can't believe what eloquent orators arise from the Senate and House floors when they see the ready lights of the TV cameras go on.

--it does not have ads. Although this is not as of extreme importance to me as some of the other reasons I have given.

--it is short and to the point like this letter. I wish Congress had that attribute
