Dear Mr. Lamb:

On the morning of May 15th, you had as one of your guests, Richard Erb, the Director of the International Monetary Fund.

MELANIE TAMMEN of the Competitive Enterprise Institute beautifully articulates matters of economics, so that even I can understand them, would make an excellent guest. It was she who explained the Savings and Loan mess when most of the public was confounded by lack of information. Those in the media, who did report on it, did so in vague terms.

The Washington Times had an editorial piece that was entitled 'THE INTERNATIONAL MOOCHER'S FUND' (referring to the IMF) and rightly so!

Could you please have Melanie Tammen on as your guest soon? If you've never met her, I'm sure you would be impressed.....not only is she most attractive, but her grasp of economic issues and her ability to relate them in understandable language for the lay viewers is truly admirable.

Respectfully,

Pittsburgh, PA 15226
