Dear Brian,

Dear Brian,
I am a fan of C-Span; it's almost the only channel I watch, with the exception of CNN. I heard your announcement about one week ago that the station would be (superseded some way) by other coverage, in some parts of the U.S. I was very alarmed; I interpreted it to mean that C-Span was reducing its broadcasting exposure. I hope my conclusion was incorrect.
One is a "public citizen", involved in politics and politics

my conclusion was incorrect.
If me is a "public citizen", involved in making intelligent choices about his candidates for public office and what is happening in U.S. government, your channel is the only one that is educational in these areas.
It would be a huge step backwards

that it's educational in these areas.
It would be a huge step backwards
if there was any reduction at all in your broadcast exposure.

Is it an option that you might start a subscription TV situation like KCET in Los Angeles, Ca., but on a national level? I know you have enough ardent fans to help keep this channel supported and subscribed.

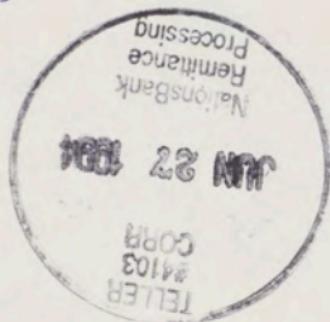

I sincerely hope that I mis-interpreted your statement, that you will continue to furnish us with excellent coverage of public importance. I have seen people on T.V. in your channel that I would never have been exposed to in a million years, were it not for your channel. (Felix Rohatyn, Al Rosenthal, etc) Your channel coverage is truly the ~~big~~ TV happening of the past

Your channel coverage is truly the most important T.V. happening of the past decade and I'm looking forward to a lot more enjoyable, educational viewing. Keep up the good work!

Keep up the good work!
Yours sincerely,
John T. Ward
