Dear Mr. Lamb:

I AM A VIEWER OF C-SPAN, AND I ENJOY YOUR METHOD OF INTERVIEWING AUTHORS. YOU SEEM TO GET TO THE POINT OF THE BOOK, AS WELL AS TO THE CRUX OF THE AUTHOR SPEEDILY, PAINLESSLY AND, SEEMINGLY, WITH NO ILL-INTENT.

I HAVE WRITTEN A MANUSCRIPT OF 500 OR SO PAGES (DOUBLE-SPACED) THAT ON THE SURFACE APPEARS TO HAVE NO RECOGNIZABLE MERIT, BUT WHICH, I FEEL MIGHT BE WORTHY OF LASTING RECOGNITION. (Of course, this is an unpublished author's opinion). This manuscript is complete in every detail - that is, being an amateur writer, I reserve the right of the amateur to have a thing published absolutely as is, without even one change of even one word or mark or indentation - please do not take this as a challenge (it is not). This amateurishness stems from the fact that I have written numerous other manuscripts in the past, which are all, now, burned or turned into paper mache, because, in lengthy ponderence (often over the span of years), I felt they did not convey all which I had to say simply enough in print.

MY CHIEF DRAWBACK IS THAT I HAVE NO CONTACTS IN THE FIELD OF PUBLISHING, NOR DO I HAVE ANY MENTORS. I BELIEVE MY BOOK IS EITHER AN ADULT BOOK FOR CHILDREN OR A CHILDREN'S BOOK FOR ADULTS. IT'S A FICTIONAL STORY OF ONE FAMILY'S TRAVELS THROUGH TIME AND SPACE AROUND THE WORLD; I FEEL IT HAS A UNIVERSAL NATURE TO IT. I wrote intensely for three weeks and took two years and three months in the revising of it. Then I vegetated for a year and a half in pondering its fate. I have emerged from this deep thought process with the hope that it can generate the sorely needed income I now require since my job loss (with which loss went my self-confidence as a conscientious worker), such income being with no strings attached. I NEED A DECENT, ONGOING MONETARY WAGE (ROYALTY, IF YOU WILL) FOR A DECENT 108,000 OR SO WORDS TO THOSE BORN IN THIS CENTURY, BUT WHO HAVE BEEN CAST BACK INTO THE PAST OR FAR INTO THE FUTURE, WITHOUT HAVING SENSED A STRIVING FOR WELLNESS IN THE PRESENT - A SENSE I WAS FORTUNATE TO HAVE KNOWN AS AN INNOCENT (BUT ENRICHED!) GIRL, BORN INTO AN AGE OF MENTAL (BUT NOT UNKIND!) POMP AND ECONOMICALLY MEAGRE (BUT NOT POOR!) CIRCUMSTANCE.

PLEASE, WOULD YOU READ IT AND IF YOU FEEL IT IS WORTHY OF PUBLICATION, HELP ME GET THE THING PUBLISHED WITH A REPUTABLE PUBLISHING HOUSE? IT IS COPYRIGHTED.

Very truly yours, [REDACTED]
