It is very irritating to hear callers call in with questions/comments that are not on the subject.

Perhaps you should answer phone
"What is your question for our guest(s)?" (Not, "Do you have a question for our guest(s)?")

Or have a show where callers can call in with whatever they like.

In any case you have a problem. In fact I remember one show where there wasn't a single call related to topic! Some of us may be interested in topic!

On general, I am much less interested in cable's comments, which too often just repeat what has been said before, than I am in caller's questions to draw out relevant information from presumed knowledgeable guests).
