Brian Lamb, CEO
C-SPAN / DC

Dear CEO;

Beginning with a veritable flurry of righteous indignation over what is to this day an unconscionable concentration of media-power in too few hand, C-SPAN has itself caught the disease. Is it something in the water? The air? Perhaps the tone of a place which has come to symbolize corruption and a massive political dysfunctioning? Whatever, it grows and callers know it. You cannot hide, my friends, any more than the mountebanks of the rest of journalism can.

With this P.C. "Ensured Fairness" of yours---deciding who shall be heard via the phones---the burden of decency ^{staff} was just too much for your ^{en} masse. Call these stacked lines for what they are: Phoney Phone-Ins. I personally think you cannot bear to hear the impact of what millions of us know for fact, ie, that we are in crisis and you are a part of it. As for the phone-banks cop-out, let the Left get its own. (If they can find enough users).

Beyond interdiction, we will now hear a 2 to 1 array of comedians soon. Repeats of Imus v. Franken and---good lord---David Brenner, who is little more than a token on the scene. Utterly contrived once more. Do you not see this imbalance? For the record, Franken and Brenner are pro-Clintonites. Imus spares no one. Sooner or later, water seeks its own level, goes to the maxim. Wait, I understand! You cannot find anyone who is anti-Bubba. No matter. It speaks for itself.

2. C-SPAN's Disgrace

"Booknotes" rolls on~~g~~, using whatever faddish tome of the moment tickles the putzes* of your totally failed division. Even your II formulation emits significant sucking sounds, as the young would say. No book with a soupcon of centrist/Libertarian/conservative merit makes it, other than a few now and then for effect. You allow a non-entity like Belle Hooks do her thing as you will surely suppress Professor Mary Lefkowitz' cogent Not Out of Africa---the counterpoise to this rampant Spike Lee-ism. Real history and true scholarship have no chance on these miserable excuses for enlightenment. Ted Sorenson should be balanced out by writers who saw the dysfunctional Kennedy clan for what they were.

Your decades-long war ~~#####~~ ^{against} the Second Amendment still prevails. You use the senile twit Colman McCarthy but would never ask an editor from The American Rifleman or The American Hunter on. It never occurs to you that those who are really responsible for saving all your freedoms have an equal right to be heard. That will never change, for the personal attributes causing McCarthy's ongoing appearances preclude integrity in your ranks. Human Events is not my cup of tea, be advised. Yet, they are far more caring for the future of the republic than your buddies at IPS. The John Birch Society may have some hinges loose, but they have more probity than most of your executives.

Pray continue. It hastens real change. Ciao.

Note: in case it has not dawned on you yet, the bulk of major media are ~~are~~ Joe Kleins and have lost all they have to peddle, credibility. Do something there.
