

I understand Brian Lamb has become an overnight celebrity in France, toasted everywhere ... as "The Man Who Escorts Susan Swain".

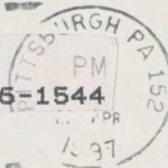

Suggested "Journal" pairings (unbalanced): Jill Abramson with James Stewart: because I want to see if their accents are identical, or whether 1 grates on my nerves more than the other. Also, the Cullum sisters, Lee and Blanquita: They're both so attractive in the oddest pouty, waxen skinned, way.

I've been watching NET's "Morning View" (The Mitchells are gone.) during your "features" (like the National Gallery exhibit of gum wads from under Senators' desks) and find the callers are the same ones that ignore your 30 day policy, like the squeaky young man who gives small towns around Youngstown, OH/Sharon, PA as his home. Not the new guy who has been, "subjugated and sublimated by the state dept" though; I'd like to hear his story once. Joe McCutcheon, Ellerjay, GA of course has gone on to do TV guest spots based on his calling career.

From pest to star; there is no justice.

O.W.J

[REDACTED]
PITTSBURGH PA 15216-1544

C-SPAN

400 N. Capitol St, NW

Suite 650

Washington, DC 20001

