Dear Mr Lamb,

My family and I enjoy C-span and appreciate your efforts in adding to the limited quantity of intelligence on television. Keep it up.

So much for the fan letter. Now my purpose in writing:

Are you the Brian Lamb I remember from the spring of 1964 at Navy OCS in Newport RI?

You look like you might be (aged 30 years older of course). If you are the right guy, we were in Kilo Co together. You played drums in the drum & bugle corps - and I played trombone. When we stood up for show and tell (to see if we could talk, I guess) you produced an audio cassette used for radio commercials. It was the first one I ever saw.

If the identification is correct, I'd enjoy hearing from you. I know what you're doing now; what have you done in the meantime?

As for me, I did my time in the Navy, saw a bit of Westpac, learned to say "right standard vadder" like I knew what I was talking about, ~~arg~~ and got out.

Now I'm easing through middle age (my kids would say late middle). Careerwise, I'm a social worker in Child Protective Services for the county. I guess you'd describe my politics as "Ronald Reagan Republican."

So please satisfy my curiosity—well done on the show.
