

In few words let me explain why my family and I watch C-Span.

The cable network is performing a true public service by allowing me and the family to become a part of the mainstream of political, scientific, and socio-economic life of our nation. In some instances this becomes fact by allowing us to make direct telephonic contact with our political leaders, business leaders, contemporary figures and knowledgable reporters.

These educational programs put into perspective our larger involvement with other nations in the world. Our understanding of the role our nation plays in this one-world effort to ^{gain} peace and prosperity for all nations is very important.

We enjoy all of the programing and only wish that time permitted more listening time. We enjoy the talk shows, the congressional hearings, the National Press Club meetings, senatorial debates, etc.

C-Span does much of the above by means of unedited and un-editorialized material. There are enough educated people now to inform the electorate by allowing people to make up their own minds on issues. I know that the intelligent people of the United States appreciate this approach!
