I WATCH C-SPAN BECAUSE:

Your programs are educational, interesting, current, informal yet dignified. Your personnel is intelligent, highly-motivated and always courteous.

For example, your series "Day in the Life of" attracts viewers of all ages, sex and background. The utilization of major newspapers in the presentation of special events provides insight into their operations the vast public has never seen televised. Your invitations to the general public to call-in and express their views affords a valued exchange of opinions and ideas throughout our broad land. A finger on the pulse of the nation as it were.

Promotion of the exchange of journalists and national leaders is truly a classic event. The election campaign has been exceptional and nonpartisan. Your public appreciates your efforts as evidenced by the complimentary remarks preceding their questions.

Happy fifth anniversary and many, many more wonderful years ahead.
