

Dear Brian Lamb:

April 20, 1992

I have written more than once asking for more balance in the journalists who are featured on C-SPAN. I particularly argued that you chose from the extreme right (Washington Times) to the middle-of-the-road (The New Republic).

I suggested the Nation, among other publications, as a source for reporters from the left. How good to see that recently, including Mr. Corn today, you have begun to use such speakers.

Thank you.
