To Whom It May Concern;

Lynne Cheney, Chair of the National Endowment for the Humanities, was recently featured on CSPN as she addressed the National Press Club. Unfortunately, I did not hear the introduction so I am not able to identify the speech by a specific title. The subject of the speech, however, was that of "Political Correctness".

If there is any way you could provide me with a copy of information on how I might be able to obtain a copy I would greatly appreciate it. If you have no information about this specific speech then please let me know how I might contact Ms. Cheney to see if she might provide me with a copy of her excellent speech.

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]
