C-span in its evolving role as an unveiled forum for the corporate Right and the extreme Right (with a token left-winger thrown in every once in a while to preserve the illusion of "Balance") presented on its channel Mr. John Johnstone of the Olin Corporation (aired 4/7/93). The night before it was a spokesman for the John Birch Society.

Mr. Johnstone complained & pontificated against the unfairness of the Superfund clean-up Program and its ineffectiveness in actually cleaning up the environment.

This is ironic since it is corporations like Olin who have given millions of dollars to right-wing candidates who have then got into office and made sure that whatever environmental laws & regulations had been passed (such as Superfund) were as ineffective as possible.

I think these same politicians were also responsible for the corruption associated with the Superfund Program (Ranarber Anne Gorsuch Bunker?)

It's clear from listening to walking waco's like John Johnstone that in his fantasy world corporations like Olin are beneficent entities bestowing light, progress and civilization on the world, and, having to cope valiantly, with a certain portion of society that is deluded and ungratefull enough to take exception to the pollution, international mayhem is usurpation of power that Olin

and others are responsible for. (Stalinist ~~but~~ bureaucrats (sic) in the old Soviet Union
probably had similar hallucinations)

To sum it up I ~~was~~ think John Johnstone is basically a fascist who wouldn't know what real fairness was if it walked up and bit him on the ass.

thanks for your time
