

Yesterday's hearing was a demonstration of how screwed up conservatives, and the religious right's perception of morality actually is.

I watched Kenneth Starr worm his way around the law for two hours waving a thin paper back copy of his referral as justification for witness tampering, conflict of interest, leaking grand jury information. Abusing witnesses. Your guest mentioned that he would like to see his children take Starr as a roll model. I wonder who else he might choose, maybe Fu man chu!
