Gentlemen:

I follow C-Span regularly and have tried without success for some time to phone in a comment I would like to make re character and public officials. My statement reads as follows:

CHARACTER AND PUBLIC OFFICIALS

I respectfully disagree with those who state that the private life of public officials is irrelevant. One's personal behavior is a true measure of one's character. I do not believe that one who is dirty in his private life can somehow take a shower, put on clean clothes and then, all of a sudden, become MR. CLEAN in his public life. This is the kind of game Bill Clinton is playing but most Americans are not fooled by it.

Sincerely,
[REDACTED]

P.S. I am a life-long and well identified Democrat.
